Hi-Tech Gaming Modules

Module 1:

A2E

A2E is one unique class apart game chalked out within the elements of risk & return. A multiple choice question based round, where the questions are taken from a range of topics right from sports, entertainment, media, infotainment, sheer fun, trivia and corporate knowhow. The quiz has a good mix of static and dynamic (images and videos) questions.

The software is designed in a manner that it blocks the wrong answers one by one and reveals the correct answer in the end.

This intriguing manner of revealing the correct answer after deleting the wrong ones successively actually keeps the audience engaged and hooked to their seats till the end.

A screenshot of a quiz question displayed on a mobile phone screen. The question is "Which team did India beat in the 1983 World Cup semi finals?". There are five multiple-choice options: A) England, B) West Indies, C) Pakistan, D) Australia, and E) Sri Lanka. A progress bar and a "10 sec" timer are visible in the top right corner of the screen.
